

As other colleges and universities lift their mask mandates, we will be increasingly seen as an outlier. We are moving into the period when high school seniors are narrowing down their college choices. We do not want an outlier masking policy to adversely affect our competitive position.